This season's handicaps have again been done using the computer with a few manual adjustments.

To try and iron out the problems of 'good seasons and bad seasons', an average of the players league averages over the last 4 seasons has been used where available, others where appropriate, allowances have been made for the division played in, and in the 4 a-side divisions, the actual position played, so every angle has been looked at, Some may feel hard done by, but the trick is to look at the players around you, and their handicaps and their known ability.

The handicaps range from -18 to +100 to cover the 178 players entered this season,

The "tie-break" handicap is there in the rare event after 9 sets played, plus the normal handicaps, the scores are level at the end of the match, and as per Rule 12 of the Vet. Cup Regulations, a 'tie break 'doubles' match is to be played, with the 'tie-break' handicaps only of each of the 2 players added to the scores of the 2-21up doubles games
